INTRODUCTION

CPCS works on the protection of street based children and children at risk in Nepal since 2002. Numerous reasons lead children to the street: peer pressure, media influence, natural disaster, family break-up, poverty, family violence, dream of a well paying job or access to free education, dream of easier life in a city.... Children migrate from their hometown or village to Nepal's big cities. Once there, they generally end up in the street where they have to face its multiple dangers: drugs, abuses, crimes, hatred, exploitation, discrimination, intimidation, illegal detention and STDs.

We run programs at 3 levels

- Prevention (prior to and during the street life): a set of interventions focused on
 - ✓ Preventing and avoiding the arrival of the child in the street.
 - ✓ Raising awareness among the public, families, authorities, children themselves about the realities of street life (its causes, dangers, aspects and consequences).
- Risk Reduction (during life in the street): a short-term perspective focusing on immediate reduction of the dangers of street life.
- Social Rehabilitation (after life in the street): a mid-term perspective focusing on progressive and eventual reintegration of the child into society.

89 (part time and regular) Staffs work in our centers and programs: 1 Risk Reduction Center, 1 Rehabilitation Centers and 17 CLASS Centers (CPCS Local Action Support and Services) in Kathmandu valley. 24 other CLASS centers in 3 other districts: Dolakha in the north of central region, Morang and Sindhuli in South of Eastern region, nearby India.

Around 2000 children receive daily support through our activities. 100 to 200 children are supported by our Socialization and Rehabilitation Centers. 1524 children receive full scholarship through our Prevention programs. 4948 medical consultations were provided. 79 youths or children received Legal support and up to 8200 children, youth and their family members were followed and helped by CPCS International in 2016.

Yearly, in average, this means 9840 daily CLASS sessions for 1524 kids, 1120 Health sessions for 35 children, 1190 parent meetings for 21 parents, 12250 family visits, and 6240 Medical cases to treat: 1110 cases to refer to a local Hospital, 215 cases to refer to general hospitals (or our clinic) in Kathmandu.

PREVENTION SERVICES

Introduction

In 2007, CPCS set up Prevention programs and Awareness activities for children and families outside and inside of the Kathmandu valley in order to prevent the arrival of children to the streets. We developed different programs focused on families, community and children “at risk”.

Launched in 2003, CLASS (CPCS Local Action and Support Services) is a prevention program focused on different realities of the street and working directly on their foundations: village problems, domestic violence, social exclusion, consumption of alcohol or drugs, absence of family planning, etc. The precise aim of CLASS is to address the multiple problems and risks met by children in certain cities in Nepal where the phenomenon is triggered. Children are at a risk of being victims of domestic violence, social exclusion, drug abuse or lack of family planning. Combinations of those causes push children to escape from their village to seek refuge elsewhere. That is why CPCS want to stop the flow of children at the source and reduce their number by encouraging and sustaining their education.

Through the CLASS Program, we support children, in their home place, for schooling and scholarship; we enhance their parent’s awareness on their right to education, on the importance to attend school, on the risks associated with school dropout and on the dangers of the streets.

Awareness and Prevention activities:

WITH THE FAMILIES...

CPCS has been able to collect data and conduct several studies on the topic of street children in Nepal. This has enabled the organization to identify the underlying characteristics of poor households that are likely to lead to the migration of a child to the street. Sometimes, parents themselves are responsible for sending their children to work in the streets and use their child as a source of income. This generally happens when the father loses his job. Other times, alcohol consumption, family break-up or domestic violence can result in children running away from their homes and placing all their dreams in the myth of the city. The relationship with the family is therefore a key element in addressing the issue of street children. Hence, CPCS has developed prevention programs targeted not only at the street children themselves but also at families and children identified as “at risk” by our social workers and their partners (local schools, local organizations, and the authorities).

Prevention programs targets poor families in order to reduce children migration include awareness sessions, family counseling, family mediation services, and the provision for children’s educational costs when necessary (i.e., paying for the tuition fees). Through these activities, we try to make the parents understand that the relationship they have with their children is the best guarantee against the risks of breakdown. Our Educator on-site tries to engage regularly with parents and to address highly sensitive topics such as the rights of the child, duties of the parents, the consequences of domestic violence and alcoholism, hygiene, health, etc.

WITH THE CHILDREN “AT RISK” ...

CPCS educators also involve with children “at risk” in the villages by organizing activities in the local schools. These awareness-raising sessions cover the dangers of the street (drugs, diseases and abuses of all kinds), the rights and duties of parents and children, domestic violence, hygiene, health, the use of illicit substances. Without knowledge of their rights and these risks, the child is an easy prey for a predator.

WITH THE STREET CHILDREN...

In Nepal, about 65% of the children who arrive on the street usually stay there. This is why our educators organize regular information sessions in the street to inform the children about the various forms of abuse that street children might be exposed to, i.e. AIDS, drugs, and sexual exploitation. By doing this, we try to make them better prepared to face the dangers. Children in the street and the ones attending our shelters participate in awareness-raising sessions. Without knowledge of these risks, the child is a designated victim. For example, CPCS has launched a campaign on HIV/AIDS, the risks of clandestine sexual intercourse, and the consumption of drugs. We deal with these topics by using posters and other materials, which facilitates communication with the children.

WITH THE PUBLIC...

Many different stakeholders interact with street children in Nepal, including the general-public, security forces, shopkeepers, tourist professionals, tourists and schools. CPCS considers that the issue of street children should not only be tackled at the children and their families' level, but also at the level of these other stakeholders. The image of street-based children amongst the public is generally quite negative. Because they wear dirty clothes, use bad language and deny most social norms, they are considered social parasites, young criminals and drug addicts. Children often feel that they have no other choice but to live outside society and reject most of its rules. They form a parallel society with its own codes, its own language and its own rituals, which often include consumption of illicit substances. This leads to a vicious circle: society rejects street children because they are non-social and children are non-social because society rejects them. By working on the public's perception of street children, CPCS tries to break this vicious circle. CPCS believes that "the greater the public's participation, the greater the chances that children reintegrate society smoothly" In addition to information sessions, held in order to raise the public's awareness, our team organizes street dramas and produces short movies. These tools inform the locals on how children are surviving in the street. Street drama enables them to express their experiences freely and reduces the distance with the public. CPCS has also produced two movies, "Beli 1" (2008) and "Beli 2" (2009) featuring Nepali street children in their everyday life situation. The actors are both CPCS children and professional actors. This awareness tool's purpose is to awake the Nepalese population to the reality of the street and give it keys to understanding. Lastly, we have adopted a specific policy with regard to the right to one's image. We do not allow people from the outside to use the pictures taken at CPCS as they wish. CPCS prohibits the use of denigrating pictures of street children and the publication of pictures of children's faces without their consent. By doing this, we intend to respect the rights of the child and set an example for others to follow.

WITH THE AUTHORITIES...

The police can also be a partner in the fight that CPCS is leading. Firstly, police officers who are badly informed about children's rights and street children's living conditions might behave unlawfully towards children and notably use violence against them. By informing the police, we can expect a better understanding and a more humane attitude. Secondly, working in collaboration with the police on the problems of the street is a key to our work. Our objective is to calm tenseness between the police and the children. Today, thanks to a good relationship with CPCS, the police prefer to contact our hotline rather than incarcerate children in the case of offences. On our side, we try to explain to the child that certain behaviors are harmful to their image and make it necessary for the police to intervene.

WITH THE SCHOOLS

CPCS organizes street dramas on children's rights, sexual abuse of children, family violence, education and other abuses. These street dramas are performed in various schools in Kathmandu and in other parts of the country too. Parents, teachers, community people, civil service employees and students are the target audience.

CPCS Local Action and Support Services (CLASS)

CPCS believes that prevention programs should also be conducted outside of the valley to address the issue of street children at its source. Our CLASS program aims to raise awareness among ordinary people and stakeholders outside and inside the Kathmandu valley area.

Through the CLASS program, CPCS conducts prevention programs in 41 centers and schools, in Kathmandu valley and in other districts. These places were selected after a study showing that they were the ones from which the majority of street children come from, notably because major roads pass by these towns.

With the support of a CPCS social worker (locally recruited, LSA), CPCS identifies families at risk. This process is conducted through networking with other child protection NGOs based in the area, local schools and government bodies. A proposal is made to the selected families. The LSA plays the role of a mediator between the school, the family and the child itself.

CPCS provides financial support to the family for school related expenses (monthly fees, exam fees, uniforms, books, stationary etc...), support to the child (which he/she usually do not get at home due to illiteracy and lack of education in his/her family).

The LSA also works as a social counselor trying to install or re-install, through dialogue, a better communication between the family members.

Altogether 4278 parents, teachers and children benefit from our CLASS Programs. 4 offices, National and Regional deliver CPCS support to the children through 41 local centers and 87 staffs.

During first semester, in the 26 centers, about 3800 daily CLASS activities and 288 Awareness activities were held.

During second semester, in the 41 centers, 6033 Awareness and daily CLASS activities were realized for about 1510 children each time (of which 575 Health sessions, 614 Parents meetings and 3880 medical cases treated ...) and 6280 Families visits performed (details are in the annexes).

The "Prevention" project is mainly supported by "la Chaîne de l'Espoir". In 2016, "les Amis de Soeur Emmanuelle" and Caritas supported the action and certainly in the district of Dolakha.

RISK REDUCTION

Introduction

CPCS respects the child's wishes and believes. It is the child's own decision to come to CPCS and then to go back to its family or to choose another option. We have developed programs and activities that encourage children to come to our centers where we can help them on their path back to their family, and enroll them in school. Street field workers inform street-based children and encourage them to walk toward their own social Rehabilitation path gradually.

CPCS short-term risk reduction programs conducted both in the streets and in our socialization centers, constituted the first steps to the building of a relationship between the child and CPCS. CPCS then offered any street child who desire it, an individual counseling based on his personal history, educational background, personal abilities, age, and most important of all, on his personal wishes and interests.

Through daily fieldwork and contacts with street-based children within our centers, we gain experience about the daily life and problems of street-based children. In addition, CPCS values very much its network with other NGOs working with street-based children around the world. Being part of the "Street Field Workers International Network" gives us the opportunity to share our experiences and learn from others.

CPCS' outreach work was essentially based on frequent day-and-night field visits and on activities within our centers. On the street, the children who met our social/field workers received information on our activities, programs, counseling services, informal education classes, and first aid service. Our social workers were also responsible for identifying and approaching new street-based children.

Nepal's Government has changed its policy concerning street-based children in coordination with existing NGOs. First Aid services directly in the street are now forbidden in favor of placement in Rehabilitation centers. MOWCSW and CCWB have published a Guidelines and operational manual for organizations working with street children concerning the Drop In Centers (DIC) and Rehabilitation/Socialization centers. They started that program on 10 May 2016 in partnership with 10 NGOs.

The Rehabilitation Shelter - Dillibazar

Due to some policy changes decided by the Central Child Welfare Board, our “shelters” are not fully open anymore. Children have to stay inside and follow a full socialization process.

The socialization center is a place where former street-based children can be safe and receive assistance when needed. They have access to various entertainments (football, board games, carumboard, marbles, cricket, badminton, table tennis, watching a movie) while the educators take this opportunities to raise up their awareness on AIDS/HIV, drugs, child rights and give information about the services that CPCS can offer if they decide to leave the street. Dances, music classes and other activities are also initiated by their peer educator or friends studying in secondary level.

Our Aims

- ✓ To offer the children a safe place to sleep, take care of their personal hygiene and socialize with other children.
- ✓ To give the children nutritious and hygienic meals.
- ✓ To offer the children free access to medical care and counseling in our recovery center .
- ✓ To offer the children non-formal education, sports, culture and child rights classes.
- ✓ To manage family reunifications and family visits.
- ✓ To provide children legal assistance and plead on behalf of them in case of court action.
- ✓ To reintegrate children after tracing family through family visit and counseling
- ✓ To reduce risk among street-based children and children at risk

Coordination with CCWB, Center for Children at Risk, APC and YCSC

- 56 Children were referred for Rehabilitation in CPCS DIC by different organizations; 21 joined us directly.
- 18 children were referred from our DIC center of Dillibazar to our partner organization CPCR in Dolakha.

SELF-MANAGEMENT AND DAILY ACTIVITIES

The socialization shelter is partly managed by the children themselves to rise up children’s sense of responsibility giving them possibility to play an active role in the organization of the center (maintenance, household cleaning, food shopping, cooking, and for defining the rules of good behavior).

A Library provides books on various subjects and is used by several children each day. They can borrow books as they wish.

Individual Locker deposit boxes are available for their belongings (clothes, shoes and valuables) while they are staying at the center.

A “street banking system” also encourages children to save money and protects them from having their money stolen by street gangs, junkyard owners... They can deposit their money and retrieve it when needed.

CHILDREN PARTICIPATION

A children's central government (CCG), of which members are elected democratically by all the children, meet 4 times a month to discuss and make suggestions about the program they are enrolled in, and they prepare a written report submitted to CPCS management committee. Our objective is to make the children aware of the management of the centers and of their daily lives and to teach them how society works.

Children can also put their comment, critics and suggestions in a suggestion box. Most of the improvements brought to the programs came from the children's suggestions and CCG reports.

Staffs have also regular meetings with children representatives to gather their observations.

THE PICNIC PROGRAM

CPCS has opened a picnic spot in Godawari, outside of the city. Children are regularly taken to picnics in groups of about 20-25 children. This offers them the opportunity to socialize with one another and tightens the bonds both with the other children and with our social workers.

CPCS also organizes a gathering of all street-based children for a picnic once a year. This Program aims to socialize children, to take them out of the city and offer them some fun.

The Street Work

Supported by "Les amis de Soeur Emmanuel"

Day Field Visits

These frequent outreach visits enable CPCS educators to get a better understanding of the street life, to identify new street-based children, keep, and build a relationship with them. A senior staff member and a social worker, provide the children counseling about the street problems, awareness sessions, informal classes and games.

We have reduced this program on demand of CCWB that forbid directly providing first aid in street in favor of rehabilitation through the DIC programs.

Night Field Visits

Night Field visits started 5 years ago, 6 days/week, at night. A Health Assistant, a senior social worker and an ambulance driver patrol the different areas of Kathmandu where street-based children hang out at night. Every night, we meet an average of 17 children.

The main objective is to reduce the children risks exposure at night, (physical and sexual abuse, alcohol, marijuana or glue, injuries during gang fights ...). Our team can decide to take a child to a Hospital or to transfer him to one of our centers.

Since the CCWB has launched the program, "no-one child should stay in street" children are less appearing in the street. We assume they hide to avoid that police sent them to a nearby DIC. Our night field program has thus been reduced to 2 days/week, instead of 6 previously.

Medical Support Program (MSP)

It aims to support street-based children's medical rights and consists of

- ✓ Conducting day-and-night field visits and provide first-aid treatment to street-based children directly on the streets.
- ✓ Providing first aid or medical support for minor injuries & illness to children of all CPCS programs and centers.
- ✓ Referring more serious cases such as surgery, diagnosis, lab tests or further medical intervention to public hospitals.
- ✓ Increasing the street-based children and youths' awareness about the risk of HIV, AIDS, drugs, Hepatitis, Jaundice, STI's, STD's and other communicable diseases.

CPCS medical staffs are present in different zones in Kathmandu through Day & Night Field visits.

Medical support is provided to all children without any discrimination, regardless of their pathology, toxic addiction, or HIV status.

MSP also organizes health camps to perform medical check-ups and inform the youths.

We work in partnership with several public hospitals and coordinate with other health organizations. CPCS ensures its staffs remain healthy and safe through preventive measures, trainings and immunization.

The medical team meets with other health organizations in Nepal on a regular basis. We frequently participate in an Ambulances Management meeting in the District Health Office, Kathmandu to ensure that we follow the rules and regulations applicable to ambulances in general. CPCS also participates in coordination meetings with the Nepal Red Cross Society, the Chief District Officer, and the Nepal Police about mechanisms and strategies to be adopted by social NGOs to rescue street children when demonstrations and general strikes hit the country. Our medical staff faces some serious infection risks (AIDS, hepatitis or other diseases) due to their work; CPCS ensures the staffs remain healthy and safe through preventive measures, trainings and immunization.

The Emergency Line (441100)

CPCS operates a 24 hours emergency line, available for citizens, parents, police, shopkeepers, tourists, teachers, GOs, other NGOs, and street-based children themselves. They mostly call us to inform us about a fight, an injured child needing medical assistance or a friend taken into custody. Other groups of people call us to report a case, or to query for information.

The “National Centre for Children at Risk (#104)” referred us 55 children for rehab.

Counseling Services

Most of the children met by CPCS or living in our centers have experienced street life and some forms of violence, trauma or torture. A majority of them has been victims of physical, psychological or sexual abuses and has experienced drug addiction, criminal activities, or detention. These experiences often result in psychological disorders such as low self-esteem, loneliness, insecurity, inferiority complex, substance addiction or violent behavior. Therefore, CPCS provides children with a psychosocial support through individual and group sessions.

We have 3 psychosocial counselors for all our programs and centers. Social Workers can refer children in need to the psychosocial support cell, but children can also request to meet a counselor. The cell in collaboration with the involved staff ensures an effective follow-up of each case. Counselors make also recommendations concerning the possible and suitable rehabilitations for each child (family re-unification, schooling ...).

SOCIAL REHABILITATION

Introduction

CPCS has developed services to encourage street-based children's social Rehabilitation as well as to protect them from risks. One of the objectives is the child's reintegration into its community and with its family if the conditions allow it. Through these programs, we try to provide the best solutions for the child, according to his age, personal wishes, and family situation. We encourage them to leave the streets and help them, when they want, to find their path toward a better future either through family reunification or by any other most suiting mean: non-formal education, formal education or vocational training.

THE IDENTIFICATION PROCESS

We try to collect as much information as possible about children we met. We have developed different strategies to identify the child and his family (questioning the child, interviewing his friends, conducting field visits in the area mentioned by the child to inquire with the local people and local authorities ...).

THE FAMILY REUNIFICATION PROCESS

CPCS strongly believes that the best place for a child to develop itself is within its family, as long as and if the situation allows it. In addition, street-based children often express their will to go back to their houses during counseling sessions and interaction with the social worker. Family reunification success relies on the child's willingness to return home and on the family's readiness to receive him again. CPCS never pressures a child to go back to its family or on a family to take back a child. We have thus developed a set of mid-term and long-term interventions with the families concerned, for each stage of the family reunification process. Our family reunification social workers cell support these "before", "during" and "after" stages. CPCS interacts with the child, the social worker and the family to analyze the reasons for why the child ended up on the street in the first place: poverty, family problems or other reasons. We organize child counseling and family visits. After family visits, CPCS evaluates the possibility of reunifying the child with its family. CPCS plays a mediator role, which motivates children to go back home to their family and reintegrate with society independently. Reunified children remain in contact with CPCS, making it possible to monitor the evolution of the situation. This way we can see if the child stays with the family or ends up back on the street. During festivals or other cultural events, CPCS lets children visit their family, which is another tool to reunite children with their families voluntarily.

Reunification, de-institutionalization and Residential School Support (RSS)

CPCS believes in family care, love and support for children, our ultimate goal being to make family responsible and aware about child right and their responsibility towards their own children. NGOs can be the short-term solution to this family awareness and behavior. We launched family visits and family reunification programs this year.

60 children were reunified to their own family from girls and boys program in Dillibazar and Godavari. 16 boys and girls ran away from the centers. The RSS program was launched in 2009 for children who had reintegrated their family but were in need of educational support for schooling. Underprivileged and poor families benefit from the education support. Some governmental authorities, CBOs and partners, NGOs use our RSS support. It is coordinated within our CLASS programs and by prevention teams regularly visiting schools and students.

Last May 2015, 25 children were in the program and now 36 children receive RSS support for schooling. 5 children were dropped from RSS and 16 new children joined RSS program.

The Rehabilitation center for Boys (Dillibazar)

The CPCS Rehabilitation program is for former street and working children who want to leave the street life in order to develop themselves within a more positive and promising environment. Children are offered three educational sessions per day (Nepali, English, mathematics, physical education, or personal hygiene). This program mixes education and socialization through arts and sports and helps bring back children's self-esteem. It enables children to get over bad street habits such as drug addiction, violence, and pick pocketing, and preparing them for a more rigorous study program or family reunification.

Children involved in these programs have spent time on the street enjoying total freedom and living in a world without any form of obligations and commitments, their stability often remains fragile and temptations to go back to the streets are frequent. Therefore, CPCS particularly focuses on personal counseling with help from our social workers and regular interventions with the psychological counselors. After having spent two months in Rehabilitation, children who have not been reunified with their families join the second Rehabilitation program where more long-term solutions are considered such as referral to other NGOs for vocational training, or schooling programs. The program will be moved to Dolakha very soon.

The Rehabilitation Center for Girls

There are few girls in the street. However, once they are on the streets, they are unfortunately much more vulnerable to any kind of abuse including sexual abuse. It is essential to provide a safe place where they can benefit from socialization and Rehabilitation services.

The center is entirely dedicated to former street girls. They are directly referred to the Center, from the street, by other NGOs or GOs. Most of the cases referred to us by police are prostitute or domestic worker. In many cases, girls ran away as they cannot handle staying in a closed environment due to drug addictions and bad habits. The Program will be moved to Dolakha very soon.

Dolakha Rehabilitation Program (CPCS Center in District of Dolakha)

The building Project is supported by many individuals and NGO's, Amis de Soeur Emmanuelle, monsieur Duez, SALAAI, EUcanAID, Vie d'enfant, la fondation Vieujant, l'école INDSE, CPCS-France, Rotaries clubs (Durbuy, Bruxelles, Paris, ...), la communauté de la Résurrection, Caritas, La Chaine de l'espoir, La Table Ronde, etc.

The place is very scenery and offers beautiful views on Gaurishankar and surrounding forests. Children have fresh air and homely environment

The construction started on February 2015 and was planned for a two stories building. The 2015 earthquakes (25/04 & 12/05) revised the plans, destroying the building under finalization, forcing us to rebuild two one-stored buildings and one recovery center (we also had to pay compensation to the contractor). The new plan was also to re-build the center as a Rehabilitation centre and a regional office to support all 600 families in the district.

The new building contract started on July 2015 was seriously affected by Indian economic blockade in its beginning: rising prices of building materials due to market's shortages... Nerveless, it continued (stone collection, gardening, compound walling, land leveling, etc).

... We also planted trees and fruits trees...

The center was finally ready in April 2016.

We expect to finish the new girls' center building in March 2017!

Four buildings of one floor are already completed. One is used for children bedrooms and kitchen, the second is used for library and boys rehabilitation, and the third one is used for the clinic (recovery center) and the office. The last one, a 3 rooms building is used for staffs' quarter.

The recovery center is equipped with 4 beds with two big cupboards for medical supplies. It is attached with Office. It has two toilets and a bathroom for sick children. Two nurses work there for children and for community people as well. As said we have one ambulance for medical emergencies and to reach city hospital.

The rehabilitation building has four toilets and bathrooms, is equipped with a washing machine and has two chimneys for heating system. A Big water tank is installed for water supply.

A solar system ensures regular electricity supply and a Solar hot water system is also installed for children bathing.

Presently 18 children live in the Rehabilitation Center and attend Buddha Primary Schools nearby and Lamanagi Lower Secondary School 45 minutes walk). The new girls' center building will normally be finished in March 2017.

Center has good contact with local community like forest users' groups, water consumer groups etc... We contributed to some donation to local communities and contributed for local road construction.

19 staffs (full time and part time) work over there, for children in CLASS centers as well as in the Rehabilitation and recovery Center. The Rehabilitation Center can rehab 18 children in addition of the staff rooms. The LSAs (Local Social Actors), working in the CLASS programs, closely coordinate with school families and children. All together more than 3000 children benefit directly (scholarship) and indirectly from the CLASS programs!

The Rehabilitation program was established duly after earthquakes considering the risks among children. Most of the children flee from home for several reasons: earthquakes, poverty, family violence, family conflict, eloped mother... Other partners NGOs or government bodies also refer children to us.

9 children were living in the center in January, 19 in May and 4 in December. 18 children are supported in a schooling program.

760 cases were checked in the recovery center, and 85 during field visits. 6 cases were admitted in PHC (Public Health Center) hospital, 18 cases were also referred to hospital for OPD checkup. 394 cases were treated in the last 6 months.

All treated Patients are children or people from the community, their age range from 1 to 80.

149 Children were treated in Out Patient consultations for 591 people from the community.

20 Patient were admitted for 31 nights. 9 Children and 49 people were referred to various hospitals.

7 awareness CLASS programs were held from July to December for 311 children on cleanliness, common cold, health hygiene, personal hygiene, seasonable diseases, viral fever, and wound.

An emergency support for 5 children surviving alone in a house destroyed by the earthquake!

Due to the civil war and past political troubles, this family moved from the Nepal-China border to the district headquarters 10 years ago. Since then, CPCS has been supporting the schooling cost and other help. Nowadays the situation gone worse, the first mother left 2 years ago. Then the father remarried and left to Saudi Arabia (dreaming to find money). Later the second mother also left and the 5 children, since then, had to care themselves without any adult support! CPCS is doing its best to help, to support and to ensure those 5 lives receive what they need and have the right to have education, food, clothes, support, etc.

The Schooling Program

Due to family problems or lack of information on families' whereabouts, family reunification is sometimes not suitable for some of the street-based children. Therefore, CPCS has developed a schooling program in order to offer them services adapted to their situation. Through schooling, the children socialize, meet other children and get out of the street environment. It allows them to enter and be part of another community than the one of the street-based children. Children attend government schools and pass exams like any other student. They attend classes in Nepali, English, mathematics, social studies, sciences, and sports.

Most street-based children used to attend school in their hometown. However, because of illiteracy and other social problems, education is often not a priority for the parents. This causes school absence and frequent dropouts. The general level of education is also very low in rural areas of Nepal. Additionally, the time children have spent in the street results in a great gap in their education. Hence, CPCS has developed good and close relationships with each of the schools that children attend. The teachers help CPCS social workers assess the level of the child and the class he should be admitted in.

CPCS is slowly decreasing its residential schooling support programs to focus on family reintegration and community-based care. It decreased from 110 to 84 students in different CPCS centers this year. Several students went back home and some others joined the Rehabilitation program.

The Schooling Center for Boys (Dillibazar) was established in 2004. The schooling program is one of the pioneer programs and there are currently 10 (10-17 years) children enrolled in school. They were 22 in January 2016. 7 new children enrolled in the program, 9 were reunified with their families, 1 was referred to another center, 16 were sent to our Dolakha center to attend the same schooling program and finally 6 drop out. They all study regularly in a nearby government school. 6 students live in their own room.

The Youth Program

Many former street-based children are above sixteen and have been referred to the youth program. They are going through adolescence and deserve a specific kind of attention. They need to be given responsibilities and to be fully involved in their Rehabilitation process for it to be a success. Youths of this age who have spent time on the streets are likely to engage in delinquency or criminal activities.

The Youth program was developed with the idea of delivering services and means of intervention tailored to those youths' particular needs. CPCS does so by giving responsibilities and guidance towards the youth's professional life and future according to their literacy, educational background and wishes. CPCS encourages youth's responsibility (participation in daily work life, involvement in CPCS programs, tuition, office support, help in the kitchen, discussion groups) and possibility of working as a volunteer.

Youths can also choose between different options offering progressive responsibilities:

- ✓ A 5 levels training leading them to become a social worker: Starting as a Junior Social Worker, then an Assistant Social Worker before becoming a Social Worker.
- ✓ Vocational trainings in various fields (Electricity or mechanics for example) provided by partner organizations

CPCS also organize a 3 days closed camp for youths to motivate and talk about their family, personal life, skill training, vocation center, personal hygiene, personality, citizenship and personal identification. It is held on different dates. It covers about 50 youths from the street and from Rehabilitation centers.

ADMINISTRATION

CPCS International

Child Protection Centers and Services International was established in December 2005 and registered in SWC (Social Welfare Council) as an INGO. It has been collaborating with “Chabahil Pashupati Child Shelter” CPCS since establishment. It works for children at risk and street-based children for their health, education and Rehabilitation.

After 11 years of partnership with CPCS, an agreement with 3 other partner NGOs: CPCR (Dolakha), CRPC (Sindhuli) and ORCHID (Morang) has been signed on September 15 2015. The Project Agreement with SWC was signed in April 8 2016.

CPCS International has created the CPCS Alliance with those 4 partner NGOs to coordinate practically for the sake of children, for Rehabilitation, reunification, family tracing and family visits. It was needed due to the different locations and working areas covered by the partners NGOs. 10 staffs work in the INGO led by a Country Director and one Expatriate with 8 local staffs. CPCS International is located in Dillibazar, Kathmandu.

The CPCS team

Our team is composed of 89 professionals (members of the 4 NGOs grouped under CPCS-Alliance, regular and part time). Some of them are former street youths.

Our Administration System

CPCS Administration is composed of a Board of Directors and an Executive Management Committee. The organization gathers a variety of expertise in different areas: legal, social, fieldwork, administration, management, and medical. The employees work in different shifts (morning, mid-day and evening) in different centers and programs ensuring services from dawn to dusk.

The CPCS Board of Directors

The CPCS's Board Members meet regularly and discuss the smooth running and events of the organization. Consideration is given with great care and plans are made to ensure a good future for the organization. CPCS yearly organizes a General Annual Assembly. The current committee is presided by Bijesh Shrestha, assisted by Gita Limbu and other members: Rajendra Rokka, Nawaraj Pokharel, Gunja Bahadur Bal, Kalpana Dahal, Sanu Maiya Shrestha, Sujita Shrestha and Malika Shrestha.

Women participation has increased. About 15 meetings are held in a year. Last GAA decided to fix the president term to 2 years.

The Executive Committee (CDC – Central Direction Committee)

This committee is the government of CPCS, mandated by the Board of Directors to ensure the overall coordination and daily management between the different centers and divisional directors. The Committee takes decisions discussing different subjects: the implementation of the Board of Directors, the coordination and efficiency of CPCS projects, centers and programs, the suitable way of communicating information to the entire team, and the Human Resources Management. They have a meeting once a week. Proposals of meetings are submitted to the executive board for approval. Since 2015, CDC organizes its meeting in formal way and participation also increased. The members provided suggestion and feedback on management proposals. In 2016, we have announced the golden handshake plan for long-term working staffs since they plan to leave CPCS and we offered six months equals basic salaries for them. 11 employees resigned and 5 new people joined our team: 1 Health Assistant, 2 Social Workers, 1 Nurse, 1 Counselor, 1 PT teacher.

During this year 2 staffs got a maternity leave of 60 days and a one month unpaid leave. Likewise, 3 LSAs resigned and 4 Part Time LSAs appointed. CPCS advertised for HA vacancies and 5 candidates applied.

3 staffs benefited from treatment expenses from "Shikhar Insurance" under our "cash less plan". Similarly, all staffs and their first level family members have a domiciliary and health insurance.

The Staff Meetings

Once a week, the staff from all the centers has a meeting with the children “ministers”. It is essential for the information to flow properly from top to bottom and reverse. All the children elected by their peers to represent a program at the meeting are present. CPCS frequently organized internal training for staffs about Child Protection Policy led by our lawyers.

On 5 October, CPCS organized training for CLASS LSA from Kathmandu valley. 12 LSAs participated. The training covered the child rights, objectives and issues of CLASS programs. CPCS also provides Mobile NCELL cards to 99 staffs for inter-staff communications.

Implementation of Child Protection Policy

CPCS organized 3 different sessions for staffs to implement and inform about child protection during work. 36 staffs attended the program.

They came from different centers from Kathmandu and from different centers out of valley.

The Children Participation

CPCS has created a children’s central government. Government members are elected democratically by all the children and meet every week in Dillibazar. These meetings give the children the possibility to bring any topic they want on the table and to make suggestions about the program they are enrolled in. Those meetings take place in two different phases. First off, every child has a chance to give its opinion about its own center. Secondly, there is an in-depth discussion about different ideas or comments that were brought up by the children during the first round of the meeting. For every meeting the government members write a report about what was said and about possible actions that need to be taken in the future. To ensure that the rules and the system are respected, the children have formed a court of Justice to ensure that the system works and that the rules are followed properly and correctly. By making the children participate in the life and management of the centers, we try to make them feel responsible and offer them a role to play in our structure. The objective of this government is to make the children aware of the management of the centers and their daily lives and to teach them how society works. The CPCS staff facilitates the meeting: ATR and Gunja Bal.

Examples of children participation:

The Kitchen Club that exclusively takes place in the girl's center illustrates the participation of the children in the centers. In 2006, CPCS opened a canteen system for the meals and snacks managed by a subcontractor. It was not a great success and many children complained about the food quality. Consequently, the Kitchen Club replaced the canteen at the beginning of 2007. Every day, two children from the Kitchen Club have to prepare rice, lentils, and vegetables for the other children and the members of the organization. Each group is responsible for purchasing food at the market, for keeping accounts, and for the cleaning. Particular attention is paid to the safety and quantity of food in stock, what is distributed, and thrown away. It is the role of the children to be creative and care about the kitchen area, including hygiene and the look of the kitchen. The kitchen club system is currently being revised considering less number of children.
